1

Station

If you have to travel to get to Saxion, you've probably been to Deventer Station. This old building dates from 1865 and is located nearby the city center. Here you will also find the bus station and you can borrow an OV-fiets in the bicycle basement.

Rijsterborghpark

On the opposite of the station, you can find the Rijsterborghpark. A very nice and green park to sit with friends, play sports and hang out. During the summer, you can visit the City Festival in the park. And did you know that a part of the park is called Vogeleiland (Bird Island)? This is because you can still spot some special species of birds over here. Need a drink? Check out MEES, a trendy cafe with a coffee corner and pavilion where you can overlook the park while sipping some GT's.

Boreelplein

You will probably spot many Saxion students at the Boreelplein. You can walk here during the break to go to the supermarket. There are also some other stores here, so it is very convenient if you need to buy something quickly. And nice to know; next to the Mediamarkt there is the Vue! city cinema. Perfect for a drizzling afternoon!

4

De Walstraat

It's probably the most photogenetic street of Deventer, the Walstraat. Here you really dive into the old city center. It's one of the oldest streets of Deventer, full of second-hand and antique shops and nice restaurants such as Tea Rose in the old women's prison. Besides, you can see murals of 'A Christmas Carol', by Charles Dickens during the Dickens Festival that is celebrated each year during the Christmas period.

5

De Brink

In the center of Deventer, you can find the large square named "De Brink". At De Brink, there are all kinds of catering establishments and you can perfectly land on the terrace for some good old people watching. Also nice: on Fridays and Saturdays there is a market here and you can get very affordable fruit and vegetables.

Kar-ma

This can be called a truly hidden gem. Directly on a side street of the Brink, you will find Kar-ma, a cozy lunchroom with a beautiful garden. Here you can eat delicious food. For example "The Short B" for the Korte Bisschopstraat.
